The advantages of the new steamship canal at the Sault St. Marie are beginning to be realized in the copper regions of Lake Superior. A letter from the Treasurer of the "Forest Copper Company," dated at Ontonagon, 20th inst., mentions his arrival there per steamer Illinois, being the first boat through the canal, and in about six days' running time from Boston to the mines. These mines are about 20 miles from Ontonagon, the landing place on the lake shore, with which they are connected by a railread now in operation, and the Ontonagon river. The number of men employed at these mines at present is about 120, and the shipments of copper since the opening of navigation this season
